I am writing to recommend LMG Construction based on their performance on Titan's Traders on Grand project. The Traders project is a 21 story, 200 apartment, multiple use building with the bottom 3 stories being commercial usage and future tenant finish. The job is being plumbed with high-pressure water copper risers, cast iron sanitary and storm risers, and Uponor branch lines. There was also a considerable amount of underground work involved in the basement, which included digging trenches and installing pipe in a congested space.

LMG was a strong pre-construction partner, helping with material and fixture selection along with design changes. LMG's field crew has continually strived for safety and quality in their installation. A high degree of professionalism and responsiveness from Lance Stoddard, LMG Construction PM, has helped keep this high profile, downtown Kansas City, high rise project on track. In my opinion, the commitment to their approach shows their determination to finish the project strong.

I recommend LMG Construction as a commercial plumber and I look forward to working with them on future pursuits. Please feel free to call with any additional questions.

Sincerely,

Matt Mullins
